FORD SURPRISES FRACTIONS BY AID GIVEN COOLIDGE

Upsets Program of Democrats.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Henry Ford's declaration today in favor of the retention of Calvin Coolidge in the presidency for four years more upset a good many political calculations and created considerable commotion among politicians, particularly those of the Jeffersonian persuasion and the third party radicals.

Both the Democratic party and the republicans were bereft of a potential candidate for the presidency, one who was regarded as a promising dark horse in the Democratic paddock and a white hope by those gathering at the third ring.

Coolidge Wins His Thanks.
It looks as if the Republican leaders knew what was coming. Immediately upon Mr. Ford's endorsement of the candidacy of President Coolidge being made public the President dispatched an extensive appreciation of the Ford endorsement. C. Ransom Sloop, secretary of the President, announced the dispatch by the telegram of thanks, but declined to make it public.

When Mr. Ford had gone the President expressed himself favorably to the issue of Muscle Shoals in terms similar to those offered by the manufacturer. Mr. Ford went home and called off the third party meeting in Detroit which had been called to launch the Ford boom for President. These circumstances suggested that a significant rapprochement between President Coolidge and Mr. Ford had taken place.

Democrats Indulged Ford.
The feebler of the Democrats at the news from Michigan was stunned. They read with undisguised feeling the dispatch from Lansing stating that Michigan Democrats had filed a petition endorsing Mr. Ford in the Michigan primary as a candidate for President on the Democratic ticket and the dispatch from Detroit stating that Mr. Ford had pronounced in favor of the election of Mr. Coolidge.

While the Coolidge followers generally were exulting, some competent observers took the view that Mr. Ford's declaration would have a clarifying effect, though not helpful, effect on the Democratic and third party outlook.

Mr. Ford, as a candidate, they believed, was bound to create a heavy problem in the Democratic convention. Now with Mr. Ford definitely aligned with President Coolidge, this problem would be eliminated. Mr. Ford's supporters professed satisfaction over Mr. Ford's action.

Has Clear Field.
Mr. Ford's declaration leaves the third party field clear to Senator La Follette (Rep., Wis.). If he wants to enter the race, third party advocates pronounced the opinion that Ford would give little strength to Coolidge from the type of voters who want to join a third party.

Coolidge's supporters thought the Ford statement would annihilate the Hiram Johnson boom, but Senator Johnson's friends contended that Ford's strength was of the "non-committal" kind.

Democrats shared this view. Senator King (Dem., Utah) declared that wherever great Mr. Ford might be as manufacturer his action would not bring 14,000 votes.

Senator Lodge (Rep., Mass.), Republican leader in the senate, after reading the Ford declaration, said: "A statement, well put. It shows how the tide is running."

Senator Hiram Johnson said he was surprised at Ford's announcement. He said: "It has been known in Washington for some time that Ford supported Mr. Coolidge."

FORD'S NAME ON BALLOT
Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 19.—[By the Associated Press.]—Declaring that he would not oppose President Coolidge, Henry Ford, automobile magnate, declared today that he would not oppose President Coolidge.

Ford said he did not believe the country should be requested to take this time or strength for any political campaign.

Mellon Tells Bonus' Cost; Perils Tax Cut

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Senator Mellon's declaration today that the cost of the bonus bill would be $1,000,000,000, and that a tax cut would be necessary to pay for it, created a sensation in the senate. Mellon's statement was made in a letter to Representative Andrew (Rep., Mass.) that if the compensation measure voted by President Harding was enacted, the direct cost would total $5,000,000,000, and would average $25,000,000 for the first four years.

Mr. Mellon's letter, in which he requested that passage of a bonus bill be postponed until the next session, was received by the treasury department today. LOCATE KORETZ; EXPECT ARREST IN A FEW DAYS

Awaits Chance to Flee,
U. S. Officials Say.

Leo Koretz has never fled from the United States. He is hiding now some where within twenty-four hours of Chicago, awaiting a favorable opportunity to flee with suit cases loaded with what is left of the millions "nicked" from friends who believed his stories of Panama's riches that would produce as much off the Rockefeller would look like pokers.

That is the word received by the United States secret service, whose long arm has been reaching out for the swindler since it became positive that he had violated federal as well as state laws in promoting the Bayano River Trust of Panama.

Koretz is U. S. Belle. "We believe we have located Koretz," said Maj. Harry Hamlin, assistant United States attorney. "He is in an American city. It is within twenty-four hours of Chicago. If our information proves correct, he will be arrested by government agents within a few days."

And, if he is arrested, Maj. Hamlin continued, the master swindler of the world faces theoretical prison terms of some 250 years. That figure is a cumulative one, based on conviction in every case which the federal officials have against him.

While federal indictments have not yet been voted for Koretz, a warrant has been issued, and there is nothing to obstruct arrest once he is found.

State Continues Action.

While government officials were stepping at double quick into the chase, state authorities also were continuing their efforts.

"There are no witnesses to be questioned immediately," said John Sbarbaro, assistant state attorney, who is jointly conducting the inquiry with Stanley Klarkowski. "A few have been secretly queried. While they have strong-throated the evidence against Koretz, there is no real proof to warrant belief that an immediate arrest may be expected. We hope that the federal officials, with their far-reaching authority, may be able to act where we cannot."

It developed yesterday that Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, whose name frequently has been mentioned with Mrs. Salo Auerbach in connection with the "love nest" run by Koretz, actually had no connection with the apartment which was in the Shirley Grove Heights building.

"We find that a grave injustice has been done Mrs. Schwartz," said Robert E. Crowe, state attorney. "The case never at any time goes, than an acquaintance of Koretz. She met him only at social functions; she never came in, through the door of the apartment, for a time we were mistaken as to her connection. Investigation has absolutely cleared her and I want to make it plain that we are perfectly willing to come out and state that publicly."

The object of this investigation is to turn up Leo Koretz. If, in doing that, we have unintentionally cast any reflection on Mrs. Schwartz, we want it known that it is unintentional. She is absolutely innocent, I am convinced."

Mrs. Auerbach Released.

The case against Mrs. Auerbach, for whom a writ was issued when she called to answer a grand jury subpoena, was dismissed yesterday by Mr. Klarkowski.

"She voluntarily came in when we agreed not to question her on the Shirley," he said. "Since she has submitted herself to questioning on the other lines, we have no desire to hold her."

Attempts by Sbarbaro and Klarkowski yesterday to estimate the exact sum obtained by Koretz through his alleged swindle brought only mathematical confusion.

There is no complete sucker list available, the only record of that kind is a bunch of canceled checks which were used to pay dividends one month to a small group of investors, together with a list of addresses.

Advices from New York indicate that Koretz got as much there as in Chicago, yet there are no references to New York in the papers found here.

"You can name your own figure," said Mr. Sbarbaro. "Personally, I think $15,000,000 would be very conservative. It may run double that."

TELLS OF $500,000 LOSS

Take and give was "Big-hearted Leo" Koretz's way of playing finance, as described yesterday by Robert E. Crowe, state attorney. His financial wizardry was explained by H. A. Klein, a retired whiskey merchant, whom Koretz "took" for $500,000, and Emil Koretz, a brother, to whom Leo gave $175,000, and Milton R. Simon, a brother-in-law, who was given $125,000.

Klein was one of the party sent to Bayano who returned sadder and poorer; and he learned since his return, he said, that Koretz had "taken" him for $25,000 after he called. This was because his trust in Koretz was so great, he testified, that he signed a check in blank with which Koretz was to purchase mortgages for him. He was filled in, cashed, but Koretz must have taken the mortgage with him, he declared.

Tell of Getting Money.

He was the first witness of the day. Emil Koretz and Simon followed him and related how they came to be given the money by Koretz before he fled and how they came to give up their shares to State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. Simon sought to establish a string by which he could pull back his $25,000, but under the questioning of Attorney Joseph Fleming and Maurice Berkson, who represent the receiver, admitted the turnover was voluntary.

Klein said he began doing business with Koretz ten years ago.

"Four years ago he showed me some Panamanian mortgages," he continued, "and wanted to borrow $175,000. I lent him and he went to the bank. I went with him to the bank, where he talked to the farmers in such a manner as to convince me he owned the land. I gave him the money."

He explained that he was an investor in the Bayano trust, the "great" proposition, but that his half

Cost of a Prince?

New York, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Gertrude Schroeder, wealthy widow, today failed to answer the $100,000 suit of her sister, the Princess Elaine von der Lippe-Lippe, charging her with having stolen the love of her husband, who once was a page in Czar Nicholas' court.

The default will obviate trial of the case, and it was announced a jury would be asked to determine what the prince's loss was worth to his wife.

Then counsel for Mrs. Schroeder filed a motion for a stay of proceedings, declaring that an extension of time had been promised. Justice Pitkin reserved decision.

In her suit, filed last October, Princess Elaine made affidavit that she had called on her sister and had found the prince's clothing in Mrs. Schroeder's apartment.

million dollars went to Koretz in loans for which he now holds notes.

"Besides leaving the black chest with Koretz, Klein gave the 'wealthy' Jew in Chicago $35,000 the day he departed for Panama," he testified. He said it represented Koretz' half of $70,000 they obtained on discounting some joint collateral they held.

Reins "On His Wealth."

Emil Koretz told of the generosity of Leo to the family. Emil was a post office clerk twelve years ago until Leo bought him a hair interest in a real estate business. He retired a year ago, thinking he was a rich man because of Leo's old productions. All his money was always given to Leo to be invested in Bayano for him, he stated, and he believed his total purchases of Bayano amounted to $45,000.

He was complimented by Referee Pashin after he related how he and his family relinquished the $45,000 left them by Leo. All agreed they didn't want this money at the expense of their brother's victims, he declared.

Attorney Leo F. Wermser served notice on the attorneys that Mr. Speyer and Mrs. Mayer would not give back their $175,000 without a court order.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 19.—Acting on a petition filed in federal District court here by the Chicago Title and Trust company, Powell Clayton, receiver in bankruptcy, late today named the American Bank of Commerce and Trust company of this city auxiliary receiver for Arkansas properties of Leo Koretz, Chicago attorney-swindler.

Japan Cuts Restoration.

TOKIO, Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The diet today passed the reconstruction estimates, as reduced, in conformity with the demands of the Seiyukai, its majority political party.

The reduction previously had been approved by the cabinet, conditioned upon the formal approval of the diet, already granted by that body as a committee, and provided the reduction did not prevent the work of restoration of Japanese embassies, damaged regions from going forward.

The reduction amounted to 200,000,000 yen ($50,000,000).

HIGHER COURT CLEARS WAY TO "L" LINES MERGER

Writ Opposing Stock Sale Dissolved.

Sale of the common stock of the Chicago Electric railroad, collateral trust, which controls the elevated lines, was declared legal yesterday by the Illinois Appellate court.

The stock in 1914 was pledged as collateral for a $14,000,000 gold note loan of the trust.

The court reversed an order of Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend. That judge enjoined the proposed sale on the petition of two holders of preferred stock. These plaintiffs alleged the sale would be the first step in "a conspiracy to place the elevated roads under the control of Samuel Insull and the Commonwealth Edison company."

Sale May Be Hastened.

In view of the decision yesterday it is believed immediate steps will be taken to effect the sale, which had been set for Oct. 1 in New York and was stopped by the temporary injunction.

The two opposing stockholders are Charles J. Felt and Charles E. Dickinson.

The opinion of the Appellate court, written by Justice Thomas Taylor, held that the Felt-Dickinson charges were vague, merely opinions, that a court had no right to base a restraining order on them.

The gold noteholders had named a "protective committee" to act when interest on the notes was defaulted and remained in default since 1918.

Under the reorganization proposal the Commonwealth Edison company would receive controlling interest in the new company.

The plan was to satisfy the lines' indebtedness to the Commonwealth Edison company for power.

The Appellate court stated that the sale of the securities necessarily would be public, that the proposed reorganization plan would not take effect unless the gold note holders happened to be the successful bidders.

While admitting that the trust "seemingly was illegal" as it excluded stockholders of the individual lines from a vote in its conduct, the court held that the preferred stockholders of the trust, "as assenting shareholders," had no right to seek to nullify their own agreement.

British Judge Invalidates Divorce Granted in U. S.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The divorce of an American, H. N. Ruid, from his English wife, obtained in the state of Washington, was held invalid by Justice Hargrave in the British divorce court today.

Mr. Ruid, who left his wife in England in 1914 and who occasionally sent her money, obtained his divorce in 1919 and the following year married again.

The premier, added that he was confident that those in power at Ottawa today would refuse to be a party to any understanding opposed by Quebec.

Denies Firing Lake Water.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Donald Mackenzie, an exceeding 7,100 cubic feet per second the amount of water diverted at Niagara falls for power under the treaty of limitations, as charged by engineers of the Chicago sanitary district, was made by government officials tonight. It was stated positively that the quantity prescribed was not being exceeded on the Canadian side.

No Wonder Kewpies Were Popular; Each Had a Pint

De Moines, Ia., Dec. 19.—(United News.)—Fat Kewpie dolls were becoming amazingly popular here, the police observed. Scores of citizens were taking them home. In a raid on the warehouse of a "specialty salesman," the officers found several crates of these dolls, each filled with a pint of fine grain alcohol.

U. S. REFUSES TO STOP 'VACATION' FOR GREEK KING

Royalists Appeal in Vain to Envoy.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

ATHENS, Dec. 19.—The royalists failed completely yesterday and today to interest the American legation regarding the government's order to the king to leave. The legation flatly refused to intervene on behalf of King George.

King Sails Away.

ATHENS, Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—King George, in accordance with his note to the government that he would comply with its request to leave Greece, departed from the royal landing stage at Piraeus this afternoon in a naval launch.

The launch was accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, marshal of the court, Captain Roussos, a palace aide, and a guard of picked marines. Only a small group of friends witnessed the departure of the monarch.

The departure of the sovereign from Athens was without incident. The king traveled by automobile from the palace to the point of embarkation, the route being guarded at intervals by cavalry. The king wore civilian dress and maintained perfect composure; the queen was attired in mauve, with a large picture hat and carried a bouquet of flowers.

She seemed upset at the leave taking, and tears came to her eyes as one woman after another darted from a group of her friends, and in tears and with trembling lips uttered "God be with you."

Good Wishes Make King Will.

The king's turn to shed tears came when a soldier in picturesque uniform clasped the monarch's hand, fairly shouting: "A safe voyage and a speedy return."

Premier Gonatas was among those who said farewell to the king and queen at the landing stage.

When the king's motorcade there were no cheers; the crowd waved farewell and the king responded by waving his hat as the Daphne steamed away.

The day passed in absolute calm in Athens. It was the name day of Col. Plastiras, one of the leaders of the revolution, and thousands visited his quarters to present their congratulations.

The Official Gazette publishes a decree appointing Admiral Couroudouros agent. He will take the oath before the cabinet tomorrow.

Will Drop Oath to King.

The government has informed the diplomatic representatives that the departure of the king and queen is pending settlement by the constituent assembly of the question of the regime.

It is understood that a decree will be promulgated prescribing as a formal rule for the deputies' oath "faith and devotion to the interests of the country" instead of "devotion to the constitutional king," as heretofore.

3 CO-EDS, 4 MEN STAY OUT A BIT TOO LATE AT N. U.

Facing Suspension for Their Waffle Quest.

Three popular co-eds and four men students of Northwestern university were called on the carpet before a faculty committee yesterday to explain why the girls did not return to their dormitories Saturday morning until a few hours before dawn.

The three girls and their companions were questioned following reports that at least six couples, instead of going home when the junior prom broke up at 2 a. m., had come to Chicago and attended the Friars' inn, the rendezvous cafe, and other cabarets. This was in violation of college rules.

Went for Waffles.

The students denied the reports, according to one of the twelve faculty members comprising the council of student activities, Prof. Herbert Paulick is chairman.

"They said they had merely gone down to the Wilson avenue district to get some waffles, and that they got in late," he declared. "There is a chance that some of them may be suspended, but nothing more serious will be done."

The council's action is in support of the campaign being made by Mrs. Winifred G. Richardson, who has been dean of women since last May, to compel co-eds to obey the campus rules regarding engagements with men.

On two evenings a week girl students may stay out until 12:30 in the morning, and on a third night they are permitted to remain away from their dormitories until 10:30. The "dates" may be made for Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, or Sunday nights only.

Grant Special Privileges.

There are a few special occasions, Mrs. Richardson explained, when the co-eds are given late leaves which are good until 2 a. m. One of these is the night of the junior prom, the largest social event of the university year.

At Harmon Terrace, a girls' dormitory at 710 Clark street, Evanston, it had been the custom to give house keys to co-eds having permission to return late. For the last two weeks the key privilege has been taken away, making it necessary for the girls to knock at the door and thus have the time of their return officially checked.

This move was taken, it was reported yesterday, because a watchman stood guard in the shadows on the right before Thanksgiving and observed several of the co-eds enter the dormitory some time after the specified leave had expired.

IDENTITIES BODY OF SUICIDE.

After being for a week imprisoned in the County prison, the body of a man who committed suicide Dec. 17 was found yesterday by Morris Silverman, 2455 Irving Park boulevard, as that of his brother, Jacob Silverman, 6215 Dorchester avenue.

Jurors Clear Mrs. Kavanagh of Murder in Four Minutes

It took a jury only four minutes yesterday to vote "not guilty" for Mrs. Lucille Kavanagh, charged with the murder of her husband, Patrick Henry Kavanagh, secretary of the National Athletic club, 118 West Madison street.

Mrs. Kavanagh is the thirty-second woman within recent years to be acquitted of the killing of a man.

The jurors accepted, they explained after the verdict, the defense that the fatal shot was fired accidentally during a struggle between Kavanagh and his wife at the club's headquarters last February.

After Mrs. Kavanagh heard the verdict she turned to her attorney, Ben Short, and shook hands. Then she thanked the jurors, saying:

"I wish to thank you, gentlemen, from the bottom of my heart for the great kindness you have shown me. As she leaned over the rail talking, she suddenly lost control of herself and sobbed.

Just before the judge instructed the jury Attorney Short had presented the defense by giving the jury the woman's story of her life. Her husband often beat her, she said.

"He grabbed for my purse, where I had the revolver," Mrs. Kavanagh said. "We fought the purse back and forth. Suddenly a shot was heard. I felt a flame across my hand. Smoke came from the shattered bag. Patrick fell to the floor. The first time I knew he had been shot was when he said, 'My God! I've been shot.'"

The lawyers on both sides had waived their closing arguments.

Judge George Murten handed the verdict by four forms of verdict. The last of them was "not guilty." The jurors retired long enough to sign that form. Then came the scene with the freed woman, and the jurors left the courtroom.

FORD STATEMENT DROPS WRENCH IN PARTY MACHINES

Democrats and 3d Group Gasp at Withdrawal.

support of President Coolidge came simultaneously with the filing in Lansing of petitions to place Mr. Ford's name on the Michigan presidential primary election ballot next spring.

The petitions were filed by James W. Hahn, prominent Michigan Democrat, who, when he heard of Ford's statement, declared it was too late for Ford to withdraw from the presidential primary election next spring.

"The low makes no provision for the withdrawal of a man's name after petitions for him have been filed," Mr. Hahn said.

The Ford petitions were filed at the same time that Horatio S. Earle, prominent Republican, filed Coolidge petitions. The secretary of state indicated both petitions would be approved.

Robert H. Pointer of Dearborn, who organized the Ford-for-President conference here Dec. 15, said today that third party plans would go on, despite Mr. Ford's decision. "Mr. Ford will live to change his mind in regard to supporting President Coolidge," he said.

"Safe with Coolidge."

"I believe it is the wise and natural thing for the people to agree on the nomination and election of Mr. Coolidge," Mr. Ford said. "I am satisfied that 80 per cent of the people feel perfectly safe with Coolidge, and I feel that the country is perfectly safe with him. Why change?"

"Mr. Coolidge has shown a great many qualities that should please the countryman. I think they feel that Mr. Coolidge is the man to do right. And when a man means to do right, it is usually quite easy for him to find the way to do right."

Some persons seem disturbed over the conditions which business will face during the presidential election year. There is no reason why business should be disturbed, if the people by common consent agree they will hold to a good man while they have him. There need be no doubt about the election.

Senator's Male Campaign.

"We should consider the interests of the President, as head of the government. President Coolidge should not feel compelled to take any of his time or strength for any sort of political campaigning, and, for the sake of the country as well as for his own sake, he should not have to do so."

Almost concealing the line of his eyebrows in connection with the presidency, Mr. Ford said:

"No man has a right to say he never will consider public office, nor accept public office. No man can predict his own acts and feelings so strongly as that. But this I will say, that I would never for a moment think of running against Calvin Coolidge for President, on any ticket whatever. I am for Coolidge."

SENATE FAILS TO DENT DEADLOCK; DEMOCRATS JEER

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—After two more roll calls failed to make a dent in the senate deadlock over the interstate commerce committee chairmanship, congress reconvened, Senator La Follette (Rep., Wis.), who has been in probably will be back in the senate and he may have some solution to offer.

Twenty-five ballots have been taken on the committee chairmanship. On the first ballot today Senator Cummings (Rep., Ia.) received 33 votes, Senator Smith (Dem., N. C.) received 34, and Senator Cullen (Rep., Mich.) 35. On the next ballot the vote stood: Cummings, 34; Smith, 34; Cullen, 35.

Council Upheld in Fight Over Court Bailiffs

The Chicago city council, in its refusal last spring to make appropriations for additional municipal court bailiffs and to increase the salaries of deputy bailiffs, was sustained by the Illinois supreme court yesterday.

Increase in the number of deputies and a boost in their salaries constitute an amendment to the municipal court act of 1917, the supreme court ruled, and cannot be legally applied except by referendum following passage of act by the legislature, as was the case when the municipal court was created and salaries of bailiffs, as well as judges, were fixed.

The municipal court, through Chief Bailiff Dennis Egan, sought to compel the council to appoint and compensate twenty-four new deputies.

Up to this time virtually nothing has been accomplished, due largely to the difficulties of organization, and when the council meets a full month at the session will have elapsed. Democratic senators took advantage of the occasion today to ironically praise the achievements of congress and to charge the Republican leadership with seeking to establish a new record for a "do nothing congress."

Senator Stanley (Dem., Ky.) spoke the sentiments of his party when he said:

"The Chicago city council, in its refusal last spring to make appropriations for additional municipal court bailiffs and to increase the salaries of deputy bailiffs, was sustained by the Illinois supreme court yesterday."

GIRL, 16, SPURNS JANITOR'S LOVE; HE SHOTS HER

Peter Shanks, 27, janitor at the Hotel at St. Mary's Home for Children, 2224 West Jackson boulevard, confessed his courtship of 16-year-old Ellen Shanks yesterday by firing four bullets into her breast.

"Thank you very much for my dinner," he said, arising from the kitchen table where she had served him lunch. "And now, as you will not marry me, I will shoot you my appreciation. You may thank me for this shot."

The girl was taken to West Suburban hospital, where physicians say she will recover. Shanks, who disappeared after the shooting, was captured last night after he telephoned Sister Mary Valeria to express sorrow over his act. The police believe he has become mentally unbalanced from drinking too much moonshine.

"Don't you worry, Ellen," he said at the hospital, after the girl had identified him as the man who shot and shot her. "If you do I will pay all your funeral expenses."

"Don't you worry, Ellen," he said at the hospital, after the girl had identified him as the man who shot and shot her. "If you do I will pay all your funeral expenses."

Shanks was taken to West Suburban hospital, where physicians say she will recover. Shanks, who disappeared after the shooting, was captured last night after he telephoned Sister Mary Valeria to express sorrow over his act. The police believe he has become mentally unbalanced from drinking too much moonshine.

TURN ESSINGTON DINNER INTO BIG G.O.P. LOVE FEAST

McCormick and Brundage Also Win Plaudits.

The bid of the Illinois Republican primary campaign was ripped off with a roaring demonstration by more than 2,500 men and women voters last night at a Brundage testimonial dinner in the Morrison hotel. Nearly a thousand more persons who had jammed every dining room in the hotel were unable to crowd their way into the main banquet hall to hear the speakers.

What started out to be a token of appreciation extended to Edward J. Brundage by his friends for his services as attorney general developed into a state-wide political love feast at which Republican leaders of different factions pledged their support in bringing about the return of Madison McCormick to the United States senate and of Brundage to the attorney generalship, and the election of State Senator Thurlow G. Essington as governor.

Essington Outlines Campaign.

It was the first meeting at which all three candidates had appeared together, and it brought forth the first real campaign speech from Senator Essington. He, as well as all of the other speakers, defined the campaign issue in Illinois as clearly between smallism and good government. It was not to be a campaign of personalities, the speakers agreed, but a crusade against the waste and rottenness of the Small administration.

Senator Essington knocked Gov. Small's lone campaign prop from under him—the good roads program—when he gave entire credit, both executive and legislative, to the Lowden regime.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe added to the festivities by briefly but enthusiastically pledging his full support and that of his followers behind the banners of McCormick, Essington, and Brundage.

See No Middle Ground.

"There is to be no middle ground in this campaign," Mr. Crowe said. "You're either with us or against us, and before April 3 next all people will be asking: 'Are you working behind the banner of Essington and Brundage or behind the banner of Small?'"

Senator Otis F. Glenn from Jackson county promised these present that starting down in Egypt, Cairo and rolling on up through Springfield, Kan., and Grant Park, a Republican plurality of 50,000 delegate votes will be laid on the Brundage doorstep. He spoke of the three years of "burning" which the attorney general had suffered and of the "degradation and disgrace of the Small administration."

Says Sheriff "Erred."

He provoked laughter by his description of the attorney general's country had disfigured himself as an inn man, gone to the door of the executive mansion at Springfield, and arrested the governor's chef, an ex-convict whom the governor had pardoned and who was being sought on another indictment.

"They went there and took poor Gus, the cook," he said, "and I was hoping all along they'd get the other fellow."

"When all the perjury of this administration is known," he continued, "we hope the governor's roads will prove easy for Brundage and hard for Small."

Takes Up "Persecution Issue."

Senator Essington said his tour of forty-five counties had convinced him of the issues which must be met—charges of persecution and hard road propaganda.

"Petitions have been circulated right here in Chicago for the pardon of Walter Stevens, a gunman," he said. "He charges persecution. A man who served time for robbing a bank was arrested in the governor's mansion at Springfield. He charged persecution. There is no man in Kansas who was tried at Waukegan and who is now on trial for not accounting for public funds. He had opportunity at Waukegan to state under oath that he didn't have the money, but he didn't do it, and now he is charging persecution. More than that, he is going about the state promising the people public improvements paid for by automobile fees and taxes—your money."

Let's hope it's for you!

See No Middle Ground. "There is to be no middle ground in this campaign," Mr. Crowe said. "You're either with us or against us, and before April 2 next all people will be asking: 'Are you working behind the banner of Essington and Brundage or behind the banner of Small?'"

Senator Otis F. Glenn from Jackson county promised those present that starting down in Egypt at Cairo and rolling on up through Springfield, Kane, and Grant Park, a Republican plurality of 50,000 downstate votes will be laid on the Brundage doorstep. He spoke of the three years of "humiliation" which the attorney general had suffered, and of the "degradation and disgrace of the Small administration."

Says Sheriff. "I have a description of how the sheriff of Sangamon county had disguised himself as an ice man, gone to the door of the executive mansion at Springfield, and arrested the governor's chef, an ex-convict whom the governor had pardoned and who was being sought on another indictment."

"They went there and took poor Gus, the cook," he said, "and I was hoping all along they'd get the fellow."

and my money. He says he is going to give highways for votes. I want to tell you that not a mile of this road program was laid out and provided for by this administration. It was all provided for by legislative action during the term of Gov. Lowden.

"We've had enough of these political highway engineers. It doesn't take a bad administration to construct good roads."

McCormick Assails Waste. In introducing Senator McCormick District Attorney Edwin A. Olson, who was toastmaster, asserted "no other senator or representative had made such a record of achievement in his first term in office."

Senator McCormick translated the waste in state and city governments in terms of taxes.

"What we need in public servants more than anything else today," he said, "is courage. We meet in a sense tonight to issue again a call to duty. We meet not to reward. We meet to ask a public servant to serve us again without regard for his personal sacrifice, but for the safety and welfare of the state. And the enemies of Attorney General Brundage are enemies to Illinois and the people of Illinois."

Attorney General Brundage recounted the history of the Small case in detail.

"But there is a greater jury than this stupid twelve at Waukegan and I propose to take this case to the people of Illinois," he promised. "I propose to tell this story from one end of this great state to the other. I propose to recover for the people of this state every penny that has been withheld by the betrayal of trust by officials."

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson also eulogized the attorney general, and Mrs. Mary Hight, national campaigner identified with the Essington-for-Governor club, promised a cleanup by the women.

Others at the speakers' table were Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman, Mrs. Modell McCormick, Mrs. Essington, Mrs. Brundage, Judge Mary Bartolme, Charles V. Barrett, John H. Pasmore, Judge Adam C. Cliffe, Frank I. Bennett, and John Smulek.

DEVER VS. M'ADOO
MAY BE ILLINOIS
PRIMARY LINEUP

BY PARKE BROWN.

It may be Dever vs. McAdoo in Illinois on April 8, 1924.

This prediction was made on first class authority yesterday following the announcement that William "Gibbie" McAdoo will seek on that date to win the Illinois Democratic delegation.

Action to put Mayor Dever into the race can be taken at the Democratic advisory state convention in Springfield on Jan. 18. There already is a clearly visible determination to bring him into the race and it is believed he will consent to go in.

The subject has been discussed among leaders of the party organization in Cook county and with enough downstate leaders to show that, if the Dever plan is adopted, it will sweep the state conference. The Springfield action alone will go far toward settling the result of the primary.

McAdoo to Enter Primary. Formal announcement of McAdoo's plans was made from his Chicago headquarters by Chairman David Ladd Rockwell, who three days has been consulting local advisers. It read:

"The course that Mr. McAdoo's candidacy shall take in each state will be determined by the concurrent opinion of the majority of those among his friends best qualified to pass judgment in that state. In Illinois the consensus from the beginning has been to enter the primary. Accordingly Mr. McAdoo's name will be filed and he will enter the Illinois primary."

"We waited until his formal announcement of candidacy had been made in answer to the South Dakota proposal before making public the Illinois decision. Mr. McAdoo on Monday officially accepted the South Dakota proposal, and we therefore are able to make known the definite determination of his Illinois friends."

After this announcement was published George R. Brennan, the biggest Democrat in Illinois, was asked for comment upon it.

"Mr. McAdoo has a perfect right to enter the primary in Illinois," he said. "Possibly Mr. Rockwell knows more about the situation here than do some of us who live here. I am content to await the action of the 1,800 delegates representing the Democrats of Illinois who will attend the state advisory convention in Springfield next month."

The subject of the presidential preference primary is not included in the call for the Springfield meeting, but the call contains the usual "and such other business" provision, which leaves the door open for a Dever endorsement.

Point to Vote for Dever.

Advocates of that program point to what they say is a certainty that Dever would sweep Cook county and the general belief that his drying up of Chicago has won him downstate favor. They point to the fact that last February, without any contest in the Democratic primary contest, Dever received 169,435 votes and that in the election on April 3 he received 236,415.

In contrast to these figures they cite the results of the Democratic presidential preference primary of 1920. While there were no formally entered candidates that year, the total of McAdoo votes was 1,321. Z. L. Edwards, then governor of New Jersey, received 6,835, and William Jennings Bryan received 1,563.

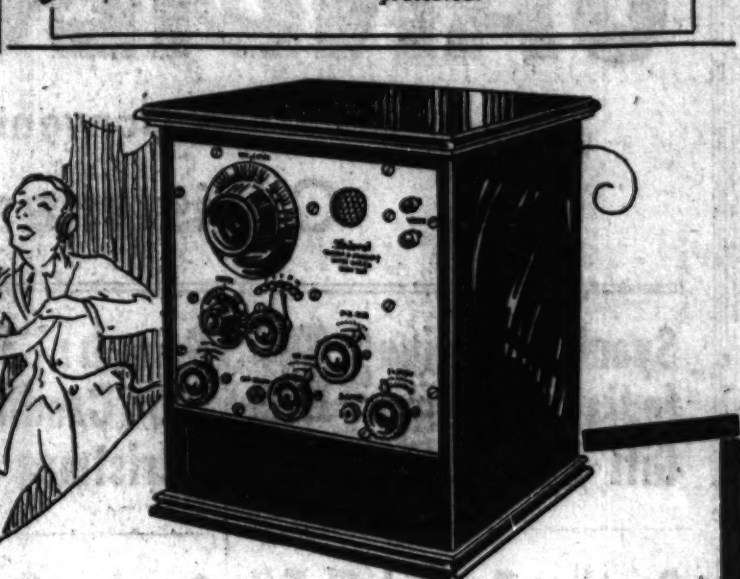

BANKERS WOMAN BOOTLEGGER. Judge Joseph Burke yesterday gave Mrs. Nora McCarthy, 7033 Fullerton avenue, four days to move out of his district. She was charged with selling "moonshine."

PLOT OF SOVIET TO OVERTHROW U. S. REVEALED

Hughes Unveils "Wolf in Sheep's Clothing."

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Evidence that the Soviet government had sent instructions to the Workers' Party of America to "raise the red flag over the White House" and to "bring about the overthrow of the United States government" was made public today by a statement of Secretary Hughes.

Secretary Hughes made public the text of instructions recently given by Lenin, president of the communist international and president of the Petrograd soviet, to the Workers' Party of America, the communist organization in the United States which is seeking to undermine American institutions.

Before doing so, the President and Secretary Hughes had been assured of the authenticity of these instructions by the department of justice. Realizing among U. S. legislators, Mr. Hughes acted in the face of criticism from radical American legislators who recently visited Russia, and who have been clamoring for Russian recognition, but who were unaware of the recent revolutionary instructions emanating from Soviet Russia to the United States.

The state department announcement declares "the soviet regime in Russia is the organ of the communist party for the governing of Russia," and quotes Bukharin, member of the Russian communist party and of the all-Russian central executive committee and editor of the Izvestia, official organ of the soviet regime.

"The close organic and spiritual connection between the soviet republic and the communist international cannot be doubted. And even if this connection had not been admitted many times by both sides, it would be clear to everybody as an established fact. In the same degree as the existence and the stability of soviet Russia are of importance to the third international, the strengthening and the development of the communist international is of great moment to soviet Russia."

"Red" Instructions Published.
The announcement then quotes in full the "instructions" sent to the Workers' Party of America, which they refer to as the "W. P. A." "The advance guard of the revolutionary proletariat of the United States of North America," and expressing the hope that it "will now more successfully conduct its revolutionary work among the millions of American proletarians."
The instructions then outline a program for "more intensive revolutionary work" to wit:
"1. All the activity of the party must at present be directed toward the workers of the large industries, such as the railroad workers, miners, weavers, steel workers, and similar workers engaged in the principal industries of the United States."
"2. Among these workers in the factories, mills, plantations, clubs, etc., there must be organized units of ten. The head of this unit must be an old, trusted member of the party, who must once a week, together with his ten, study the communist program and other revolutionary literature."
"3. These units of ten must be organized by occupation and nationality."
"4. The head of the unit must know intimately each individual member of his ten—his character, habits, the degree of his revolutionism, etc., and report direct to the central committee."
"5. Each of these units of ten must have their own fighting unit of not less than three men. The members of the fighting unit must once a week be given instructions in shooting and receive some instruction in pioneer work (sapper work)."
"6. All the unit leaders of such district must meet once every two months to discuss the progress of their work."
"We are firmly convinced that work in this direction will give enormous results in preparing thousands of new propagandists, future leaders of the military forces of the party and faithful fighters during the social revolution."
"We hope that the party will step by step conquer (embrace) the proletarian forces of America and in the not distant future raise the red flag over the White House."

EDGE INTRODUCES 3 PCT. AMENDMENT TO VOLSTEAD LAW

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Senator Edge (Rep., N. J.) today introduced an amendment to the Volstead act raising the legal percentage of alcoholic content in beverages from one-half of 1 per cent to a maximum of 3 per cent.

The senator's bill in no way prohibits states from keeping the present maximum of one-half of 1 per cent if desired nor of complete control of the method through which such beverages could be sold or distributed.

Senator Edge also introduced an amendment to the Volstead act modifying the restrictions against physicians' prescriptions including alcoholic content.

France Votes Pension of 40,000 Francs to Mme. Curie

RUSSIA RESENTS HUGHES CLAIMS FOR PROPERTY

MOSCOW, Dec. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—"We are continuing to fix our hopes on a change in public opinion in America," Foreign Minister Tchitcherine told the correspondents tonight in commenting on the statement of Secretary of State Hughes in Washington that there seemed to be no reason at this time for negotiations with Russia.

"For the peace of the world," Mr. Tchitcherine said, "it would be of great advantage, if the United States came to an agreement with us—a great step toward the settlement of world conditions; but Charles Hughes is still using his influence against such a result."

His statement said that Russia must give back all the confiscated property, satisfy the claims and pay the debts before he would even negotiate. "We then, on our part, might ask that all our counterclaims, all our demands for compensation because of American intervention, should be settled before there were any negotiations."

Representative U. S. Reps.

"He said also," continued the soviet foreign minister, "that negotiations are impossible until Moscow comes to be the center of propaganda. New York is also the center of propaganda. Many of the revolutionary parties have executives there. We have many times declared that no support was given by our government to the revolutionary parties there. At the time Martens was expelled no evidence of such support was given."

"So we declare that now and in the future, we do not and will not give support from our government to the revolutionary parties in America; that our principle is noninterference with the internal affairs of another country."

Clash with England.

It was a most picturesque picture of world affairs that Mr. Tchitcherine painted to the correspondents. The most startling of his announcements was that there was danger of new complications in Anglo-Russian relations due to the ultimatum by the British to the government of Afghanistan demanding among other things, the minister said, that Afghanistan sever all her relations with Russia, Soviet Russia has built up a strong position in the east and has close diplomatic relations with the Amir's government.

Asked if Russia considered this an unfriendly act by England, Mr. Tchitcherine said he was unable to state at present what the Russian attitude would be.

The Afghan situation might develop the greatest gravity, declared the foreign minister.

The hope previously held of gradual resumption of commercial relations with France now appeared to be impossible of realization, Mr. Tchitcherine thought, in view of the decision by a French court permitting the seizure by capitalist claimants of goods sent to France from Russia.

Charge: Coal Dealer Held

On charges that Michael Ambrose of 1418 Throop street had attempted to burn out neighborhood competition in the coal business, Judge Newcomer yesterday held him to the grand jury in bonds of $2,000 on a charge of arson.

Ambrose was arrested Monday night by Patrolman George Lind, who saw him prowling around a coal office at 230 Throop street with an oil can in his hand. The policeman testified that Ambrose attempted to ignite some oil soaked coal. The prisoner told the court he had been drunk at the time and did not know what he was doing.

2 SCHOOLGIRLS, WOMAN IN AUTO KILLED BY TRAIN

Two schoolgirls and a woman are dead and a third girl is said to be dying as a result of injuries they received yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck near Barrington by a Chicago and Northwestern passenger train.

The dead were WILLIAM DAHER, 56 years old, MISS HELEN TRASTIK, 15 years old, and MISS HELEN TRASTIK, 13 years old.

Third Girl Unconscious. Miss Helen Trastik, 15 years old, sister of the dead girl, is unconscious at the Palatine hospital. All of the victims lived near Barrington. The automobile, a small sedan, was crushed to pieces. Officials could only speculate the cause of the accident, but it is believed the car stalled on the tracks and that Miss Patterson, who was driving, had been unable to start it.

Mrs. Dahler died before reaching the hospital, where the victims were taken by Dr. A. Weichelt of Palatine. Miss Patterson died a few moments later.

HANDS OF DEATH

The clock indicates the number of deaths caused by automobiles, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

later, Miss Helen Trastik lived several hours.

Planned Shopping Trip. The Patterson girl had driven her mother, a teacher, to the school at Deer Grove. While returning to Barrington she picked up the Trastik sisters, her classmates in the Barrington school, and Mrs. Dahler. The latter was to take a train to Chicago to do some Christmas shopping.

The three deaths raised Cook county's 1923 motor death toll to a total of 497.

WOMAN ROBBED IN HALLWAY. Returning from a neighborhood bank where she had just drawn $150 for Christmas shopping, Mrs. Paul Felsa was robbed by an armed bandit in the hallway of her home at 211 East 45th street yesterday.

TEN G. J. GOULD CHILDREN EACH MAY GET $582,871

New York, Dec. 19.—Supreme Court Justice Davis today decided that each of the seven children of the late George J. Gould by his first wife was entitled to $582,871 from the trust established by Jay Gould in his will for the benefit of George J. Gould and his other children.

Justice Davis also reserved a similar amount for the three children of George J. Gould by his second wife, Mrs. Catherine Sinclair Gould, now on her way here from France to watch their interests.

He ruled, however, that the money was not to be turned over to them, but was to be held pending the end of the present litigation.

The decision makes it known that the present value of the Jay Gould estate is $56,468,238, which is the actual market value of the securities held by the executives and trustees as determined on Dec. 7 last. The net value on the basis calculated by Justice Davis is $58,524,997.

When Jay Gould died the value of the estate was about $55,000,000.

The court expressly stated that he assumed, "without deciding," in view of claims raised by opposing counsel, that the children of the former Vera Sinclair were entitled to share in the trust bequeathed their father by their maternal grandfather.

Today's decision was rendered on motions recently submitted by attorneys for Gloria Gould, Bishop, Jay Gould, and Edith Gould Wainwright.

TAXING INHERITANCES TO BREAK UP FORTUNES.

United States Senator Ferris of Michigan is working upon a plan of legislation under which the bulk of all large fortunes in this country eventually would be seized by the government under a greatly increased inheritance tax. That idea will appeal to many persons. On its face it appears pleasant to popular thought that huge inheritance taxes should break up the great fortunes, provide funds for maintenance of government and public institutions, and relieve the ordinary taxpayer.

But in working out would prove to be a vastly different proposition. World-wide and age-long experience in taxation has proved that there is a point of high taxes where the tax revenue ceases to rise, where the bleeding of the taxpayer destroys his ability to produce taxes, where the goose which lays the golden egg is killed. That must be true of inheritance taxes as well as of other taxes.

Theoretically, it may be proper that huge estates should be broken up and distributed from time to time. But the question of how these huge estates can be broken up without disrupting our whole economic and social system is all important. With total income taxes on the larger estates in Illinois, for instance, already aggregating about 35 per cent, it is probable that we have reached the point of danger.

First we take 55 per cent from large fortunes in income taxes, and at death we take 35 per cent of their principal. Few of these fortunes are now growing from generation to generation. Read a list of the financial geniuses of Chicago of half a century ago, and note how few of their fortunes are still intact. The inability of heirs to handle and further increase inheritances, coupled with the distribution to various heirs, and with the present inheritance taxes, are already serving effectively to break up the fortunes.

But all that aside, what would be the outcome of a law such as Senator Ferris has in mind? He says it would take nearly all of the larger inheritance. Assume that that would be 90 per cent. Assume that an heir to $10,000,000 would be forced to pay the government $9,000,000. That would leave him, in theory, $1,000,000. "Plenty," we hear some one say. "No individual needs more than $1,000,000." True enough. But the heir to $10,000,000 is seldom or never heir to $10,000,000 in cash. The estate consists of a business, with the necessary real estate to run it, a bank reserve of perhaps $100,000, a residence worth $100,000, and personal property worth, say, $100,000 more.

Very well. The owner of that estate dies and wills it to his only son, who has been trained to continue the business. The government demands $9,000,000 inheritance tax. Where is the money come from to pay that $9,000,000? Either the business must be sold or a $9,000,000 mortgage must be placed on it. If it is sold it is likely to go into the hands of speculators or others not so well fitted as the trained heir to run it. If it is mortgaged for $9,000,000 it has less than one chance in one thousand of succeeding. Eventually the son will be forced to sell it in order to pay the tax. That way leads to bank control of all business. Either way leads to degradation of all business. Or if the government could take the property in lieu of cash it would mean socialism.

Altogether, the working out of a 90 per cent inheritance tax program is not so simple. Congress will find that out if Senator Ferris presents his bill. It is to be hoped that the senator will consider all the possibilities before he presents it.

NO BLAME TO CONGRESS FOR INACTIVITY.

Washington dispatches, based upon demonstrations of the ability of the radical groups to make trouble, make the forecast that this session of congress will be one of much talk and little action. The country, we believe, can survive that with little damage, but it is not so certain that a political party can survive it.

Ordinarily, we have too much legislation and too little thinking. More than 600 separate bills are reported to have been introduced in the first two days of the present session of congress. It must be clear that the country does not need 600 new laws, or any large fraction of that number. Every one that is passed without being needed is a liability. Worse than that, it detracts attention and waste consideration from the needed measures.

Whether that be furnished with them all, we could do very well for the time being without any. So much for any threatened delay of legislation. But the lack of thought on the part of many voters, on the contrary, makes it difficult for a candidate or a party to retain popular confidence without being able to point to some definite achievement. Prevention of bad legislation is not sufficient. For that reason a congress which is blocked from action by a small minority is likely to be condemned. As the Republican party has a majority in this congress it is that party which faces the greatest danger from such condemnation.

That ought not to be in this case. It ought to be emphasized and reiterated that it is not the Republican party, nor even the Democratic party as such, that is delaying action. It is the small minority group of radicals, which takes the position that if it can't have its way no one shall. That is the fact. If the public can be brought to realize it, neither congress nor either party need

A SHAMEFUL RECORD ON THE ILLINOIS BONUS.

An inconspicuous news item announces that payment of the state bonus to Illinois war veterans was resumed soon after New Year's. Distribution was discontinued Dec. 19 because the proceeds of the $25,000,000 bonds already sold had been exhausted. The situation is one which the war veterans, their dependents and friends, and the overwhelming majority of Illinois voters who approved this adjusted compensation for the veterans, ought to review and remember.

The referendum on the bonus was authorized by the state legislature in May, 1921. The act was passed by a popular majority of 5 to 1 in November, 1921. Then the delays began in earnest. The first block of the $25,000,000 bonds authorized was not put on sale until the last of May, 1922. Those funds were exhausted by the middle of August. But the service recognition board announced that payments would be resumed very shortly. That "very shortly" turned out to be nearly three months, during which the soldiers waited in vain for the compensation which their fellow citizens had voted for them.

Now again they face a similar delay. We are told that it will be only two or three weeks, but there is no more assurance now than there was last summer that it will not be two or three months. In the meantime many needy soldiers are approaching the holiday season with flat pockets, which would have been comfortably filled if the bonus had been paid as hundreds of thousands of Illinois voters and taxpayers decreed it should be paid.

The official handling of this whole proposition has been disgusting and disgraceful. More than a year after the approval of the bonus many thousands of veterans are still unpaid for. Months have gone by in the meantime with no effective effort to make payments. More months of similar delay seem likely. In such a situation it is proper to reveal responsibility.

The act providing for the bonus created a service recognition board, consisting of the governor (Small), the state treasurer (Nelson), and the adjutant general (Black), which should have full jurisdiction in regard to the payment of compensation, the issuance, sale and retirement of the $25,000,000 of bonds authorized, and shall adopt such general rules and regulations as will insure the proper application of the act in every particular.

That should make the situation clear. Small, Nelson, and Black were charged more than a year ago by a three to one majority of Illinois voters with the task of paying the bonus to Illinois veterans of the war. They have not paid many thousands of these veterans. In addition to delay in payment of thousands of claims which they have not yet considered, they have held up nearly 20,000 other claims without adequate explanation to the veterans involved. It is an injustice to the service men, an affront to the overwhelming majority of Illinois voters, and a revelation of inefficiency on the part of the board which will not be forgotten.

UNCHANGING MEXICO.

In view of current events in Mexico an editorial in the London Times of Nov. 29 takes on a sharpened, though unintentional, irony. The editorial is entitled "Changing Mexico" and it is based on a series of articles from a "special correspondent of the Times, lately in Mexico," who "has given a vivid picture of conditions at present prevailing."

"Far reaching domestic changes," we are told, "involving the transformation of the social system, have been effected by President Obregon with less violence and less danger to human life than has attended many less radical changes in recent years," and this, the moderator, says the Times, has been rewarded by the renewal of diplomatic relations with the United States. It is suggested that the British government do not delay too long in following Washington, and it is pointed out that Mexico needs capital and organization, which she will get if not from one source, then from another. "The big investor and the big constructor is still from this country (England) but the North American is catching up in the race."

While acknowledging that Mexico has not been long tranquil, except during the rule of Diaz, the Times thinks the present is a time when some risks are desirable. Mexico has acknowledged her foreign debt and given some indication of dealing fairly with foreign enterprises, and "the reforms and the steady rule of Obregon have given a fillip to development." . . . We forbear to quote further. After all it is a brother editorial writer who speaks. There may be remarks of our own that will return to plague us.

Mexico has not changed, for the basic conditions are not changed however stormy the currents which sweep over the face of the land. The real test for the Times to ponder in "Fins can change, plus ça change, plus ça change."

Editorial of the Day

THE ISSUE IN ILLINOIS.

(Marshall (Ill.) Herald.)

Small says the issue in the Republican party is the people of the state of Illinois. The Chicago Tribune says the issue is whether or not the Small administration and its misadings will stand. Certainly no finer compliment can be paid Mr. Small than that he is leader of a wonderful political machine.

Of course, your money and my money go to the upkeep of these state political machines; there seems to be no way to avoid this, no matter what party is in power, and so we might as well give our teeth and hair to it.

At times, like the meeting Small held here, the fellows on the pay roll are expected to spend state time and money to work up a crowd.

This they did here in a lovely way last Wednesday afternoon. The theater was well filled. Many came from distant points. "Amusement" was "Jung" in one corner of the room, presumably with a crowd of those who get the highest salaries. That ought to be true, anyway. In brief, Mr. Small's remarks were as follows: THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has done much that is wrong. It is the state's greatest menace. "Bread" is a dangerous man and cannot be relied upon. "Former Highway Chief Brad" did not know what he was doing and was tied up with the cement truck. Contractors tried to rob the state. "I, and I alone, have done what is right. I tell you ready to learn for your votes and I promise you more ready if you vote right." The crowd left amazed at the nerve of the candidate, except those who are receiving their daily bread by that nerve. The rest of us decided to make application for a salary.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN! There are four books we emphatically request you not to buy for your Christmas presents. These books are: "Through the Wheat" by Thornton Fort; "The Sea and the Jungle" by Montagu; "Taming New Guinea" by Montagu; and "Acting as a Soldier" by Ashton Stevens. We do not wish you to buy these books for us because we're jolly well got 'em. We keep 'em right alongside our bed (we have an ungodly habit of waking up at half past three every morning), and then we read from our treasured volumes.

"THROUGH THE WHEAT" gives the most thrilling description of a battle as the man in the ranks sees it that this Col. Con has ever read. It is not forced and starchy like "The Red Badge of Courage"—it's just real. "The Sea and the Jungle" is a great travel story with the most delightful touches of humor. "Taming New Guinea" is a grand book of adventure, showing the campaign of Sir John Guise. "Acting as a Soldier" by Ashton Stevens, is called a book of interviews, but it's nothing of the kind. It's a book of adventure among cannibals, too, the wild, untamed habits, cannibals of the land of the midnight sun. Some day we're going to talk more about these books.

BRITISH ARMY HEALTH MEASURES.

THE British army was well satisfied with the control of malaria that was effected in any other field. Now the control of malaria was done in malarial regions and in consequence malaria was never regarded as one of the great war problems. It never received much attention. In the fighting down in the southeast, from the Balkans around Constantinople and from there to Palestine, it was more of a problem. When troops were engaged long enough in one section to warrant it, the main reliance was put on ditching as a means of preventing mosquito breeding.

Procedures that were found valuable were winter whitewashing of interiors. By opening windows and doors to let weather and whitewashing the interiors, mosquitoes were driven into the open air, where they soon perished.

Winter campaigning against inactive mosquitoes was found useful. Through fumigation as a curative procedure against malaria. Result, prophylactic damage of quinine was not found of service. Mosquito repellents were found ineffective.

Something was learned about not catching and rat killing. The best poison was the one containing phosphorus, but his poison was effective long. Because rats quickly learn to avoid it. Liquid extract of quinine made a good rat poison. They avoided bacterial rat poisons because they were regarded as unsafe. The poison used for cerebrosal poisons was found to be effective. Quinine was found to be effective.

It was found that a rat would eat a good deal of quinine. It was found that a rat would eat a good deal of quinine. It was found that a rat would eat a good deal of quinine.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—I came to this country seventeen years ago when I was under age. A few years later my father became naturalized, but I was then of age, and so I do not suppose I was considered naturalized through his citizenship. I am now thinking of taking a trip to Europe and would like to know if it would be possible for me to obtain a passport in Chicago of the consular office of the British consul. I was born in England and was naturalized when I reached the age of 21. I do not acquire American citizenship through his naturalization.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—We live on the second floor of a two flat building which has hot water heat. My father, a man aged 60, lives on the second floor. My mother, a woman aged 50, lives on the first floor. They do not have a janitor, but do their own work. Sometimes at midnight the furnace is shaken and the heat becomes irregular. The furnace is in a room about 50 degrees. The lease mentions heat and janitor service. What can I do to make her heat up the place as it should be? J. J. S.

FROM A PROPOSER OF THE WORLD COURT.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—As a student of international affairs, I disagree with the statement that the world court is the "judicial branch of the league." The American people wisely rejected the league, but the court is an institution worthy of our support.

The permanent court of arbitration, which was the best that could be obtained in 1905, is now practically obsolete. Among its chief flaws are:

1. It is not an actual court but merely a panel of judges from which disputant states select their arbitrators.

2. Controversies are settled, theoretically, "on the basis of reason and law," but actually by means of diplomatic compromise. This method cannot make for permanent peace.

3. The court of calling together judges, advocates

BRITISH LABOR AIMS TO REVISE GERMAN TREATY

MacDonald Seeks World
Parley on Europe.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 19.—When Sir John Macdonald, the British minister of foreign affairs, returned this morning from London, Scotland, where he conferred with Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, he refused to discuss his visit. He said it was natural to consult the opposition leader in regard to the British position on the German financial inquiry.

The Tribune is able to say, however, that he made the trip on the suggestion of Prime Minister Baldwin, who told him that there would be no use in making appointments which might be distasteful to the man who will be prime minister in less than a month.

It was also learned that Sir John got little satisfaction out of Mr. MacDonald, who is opposed to the whole idea of a partial and limited inquiry.

Mr. MacDonald is inclined to call a general European conference to discuss the whole European situation and, if necessary, revise the treaty of Versailles. He also objects to an inquiry solely by hand-picked men who may be more or less under French financial influence.

Plans Disarmament Move.
At the same time, the Tribune understands that the Labor leader told Sir John that every effort should be made to conciliate French opinion as the Labor government wishes to bring about disarmament, which will be impossible without French cooperation.

into the power of Labor in England. Mr. MacDonald replied that he would consider the message as never sent.

As a matter of fact, beyond recognition on certain terms, the Labor party is likely to receive but little more friendly treatment from Labor than from the old government.

Not Strictly Trade Unionist.
Any one who supposes that the new Labor government is going to be Red or even strictly trade union in policy is going to be mightily disappointed.

Of course the rank and file of the Labor party are largely trade unionist, but they also might be said to form to a great extent a large part of the other parties which in the last analysis have to depend for the bulk of their votes on the working class.

The real leadership is in the hands of middle class intellectuals. Mr. MacDonald was once a schoolmaster and then became political secretary to Mr. Campbell-Bannerman.

While Philip Snowden was once a civil service revenue expert, Sydney Webb is an author and a university lecturer on economics; Mr. Tawney, a university professor; Patrick Hastings, a leading criminal barrister; H. G. Wells, a leading commercial lawyer; Col. Wedgwood, a soldier, manufacturer, and an authority on India, and Arthur Ponsonby, an aristocrat, who was once a page at court.

The leadership of the party is really made up of men who a few years ago would have formed the left wing of the Liberal party.

Mr. MacDonald is inclined to call a general European conference to discuss the whole European situation and, if necessary, revise the treaty of Versailles.

He also objects to an inquiry solely by hand-picked men who may be more or less under French financial influence.

FAIL TO DISCERN 5¢ FARE HOPE IN COURT DECISION

No hope for immediate return to the 5 cent fare is found for Chicago's straphangers in a study of the United States Supreme court's ruling in the conflict between the city of Superior, Wis., and the Superior Light and Power company, according to Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch.

Under pressure from superficial readers who hailed the opinion as the weapon with which fares could be hammered to their original level, Mayor Dever instructed Mr. Busch to search the ruling for portions possible of application to any phase of the local traction problem.

"The Supreme court's ruling in this case is helpful to us in but one particular and it does not make possible any new road to fare reductions," declared Mr. Busch. "In this case there was a test of the validity of that portion of the Wisconsin law which, in creating the state utility commission, perpetuated existing franchises granted to utilities and brought them under control of the state body."

"The Superior Light and Power company was given a long term franchise by the municipality and then the state utility commission was created, and the company claimed that by operation of the new law its franchise had been extended indefinitely and that the municipality had lost jurisdiction over it."

"The Supreme court held that the clause in the law which extended the franchise was invalid, in that it attempted to abrogate a contract feature of the franchise fixing the term of years for which the grant was to be effective."

"We can use this ruling to good advantage in event that the surface lines should seriously contend in 1927, when their franchises expire, that creation of the Illinois commerce commission extended their right to operate indefinitely or as long as they comply with the state commission's rulings. In that way only is the court's decision valuable in consideration of the local problem."

Woods and Waters BOB RECKER DUCKS ARE PUZZLING HUNTERS.

THE way the waterfowl have been behaving lately has certainly caused the hunters' lot of anguish. Either the birds have pulled their freight for regions unknown or else they are loafing around curvies, decoy wise, and otherwise keeping out of harm.

Loren V. Fisher, a game warden of Pekin, Ill., says that "the ducks are here in great numbers, but they are resting on the wide, open waters, feeding at night, and simply won't come to the pens or decoys." As a result the shooters are bagging mighty few birds. There are no mallards up north because he has just been up there. They have been in the south, and they are there, no mallards. So the hunters are asking, where are those birds?

From downstate comes a fine brand of gloom because the mallards have been in the south, and they are there, no mallards. So the hunters are asking, where are those birds?

MAROONS ADD BROWN TO '24 GRID SCHEDULE

The University of Chicago football schedule was completed last night when Director A. A. Stagg received acceptance of his offer for a game with Brown university of Providence, R. I., to be played at the Midway, Oct. 11, 1924.

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.
HELEN'S CODE.
Perhaps, thought Cyril, in his rigorous suppression of his own appetite he had starved her. Only it was difficult suddenly to change one's manner. He must begin by degrees, gently, so that she should become gradually able to make the demands on him which he hoped would ultimately prove unlimited.

"Cyril," she said, conscious that her voice was far too pleading, "will you have me to sit on this tree trunk for a little? I feel so dizzy."

"No, please. I would rather be alone," and then, with a faint, rather whimsical smile, "you aren't hurt, are you?"

He lifted her hand to his lips. Then he raised his hat and walked on. The little touch of formality caught a tiny bit of her sense of humor. But then, like a daisy person whose eyes try to cling to some definite point, she forced herself to examine everything around her with minute, exact care. She looked at the sponge-like green and gold moss and the worn velvet over which they had been walking; she saw a scarlet toadstool flecked with white paint under which a little emerald frog had taken shelter; she watched the red gold evening air steal thief-like through the dark, tangled thickets to dissolve into pale sunlight whenever it reached an open space. And all the time she knew that in a moment she would begin to think and that the evening itself would splinter into the raging turmoil of her thoughts.

"Feeling better?" he asked.

As if to introduce the subject into her mind in an orderly way, as it might be a better announcing a guest, she said out loud to herself, "Cyril loves me." But if she expected the bare announcement to force the doors of her memory, she was mistaken. As if her life depended on it she was watching the little frog leaping about with gay irrelevance, and when he disappeared she mild wandered to a day years ago when, leaving her father and the land-lady in the middle of an altercation which was apparently being decided purely by a volley, she had wandered to the little shop in the window of which lay a volley, she had wandered to the little shop in the window of which lay a volley, she had wandered to the little shop in the window of which lay a volley.

As her thoughts wandered with a philosophic detachment which was alike an evasion and the solution of her own particular problem, Cyril returned.

"Feeling better?" he asked, with that touch of the casual which is often the only real tact.

"Much better," she smiled. Then, because thoughts are less worrying—less real, perhaps—when you turn them into words:

"I have been thinking of a little wooden box, blue it was with a cream and rose colored pattern. Do you know the sort one finds on the Italian lakes?"

"I know."

"I wanted it so badly—so badly. I used to go every day to look at it—a kind of pilgrimage."

"Yes. Every person has her Lourdes."

"Lourdes without cures. The really great faith which doesn't need a miracle."

"Did you ever get your box?"

"Why didn't you ask your father for it? He would have given it to you."

"Yes, of course he would have. But even if he had paid for it it would have been represented some other debt—some unpaid one. I couldn't let my box be that, could it?"

"I suppose not. Not you—you incurable moralist."

"I have no moral code at all, in the strict sense."

Good morning!

Light. Varr light! (The picture—not the morning.)

The moot question is—who will get to the mine first and make a deal with the owners—the hero or the villain. Of course, by dint of right and might, the righteous outwit the ungodly—and there you are.

Miss Dorothy Dwyer, formerly of the comedies, who should still be there, is the heroine, and I will say for her that she pitches in and helps in it all. Others may be mentioned as merely being along there—with the exception of a sailor who displays gratitude, an emotion not so often met with.

The scenery and sets are the sort you get with a program picture of this kind. They're on the lot. They're in good condition, and they're used.

The comic, which plays a prominent part, has been discovered by explorers to be near Los Angeles. A short walk or a motor ride will bring you to it. Action? O, every minute!

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

SPECIAL ATTRACTION
"Through the Wrong Door."

MADGE KENNEDY, one of the beautiful young ladies of this time in the world, was a daughter of a diddly-daddy fellow, who despoiled the property from others for enjoying his own life and family, but the happiness and evil have not the door. The requital can not avoid anyone, therefore his daughter was robbed by a bad egg hereafter. On this point we shall really get a great deal of instruction from this picture, as to Madge does not know anything else but the gold. She does not hate anything else but the poverty, so not long after her marriage she devotes form her poor and needy husband to get a rich one! You see, what humble she is!

Earl Carnarvon's Widow Wed Again

LONDON, Dec. 19.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Dowager Countess of Carnarvon, widow of the Earl of Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, was married today to Lieut. Col. Ian Oswald Dennistoun, formerly an officer of the Grenadier Guards. The ceremony was performed at the registry office here, in the presence of a few friends.

Col. Dennistoun, 44 years old, served in the South African war; was made a captain in 1916 and a major in 1918, during the European war. Lady Carnarvon was Almira Wombwell, daughter of Frederick C. Wombwell. She was wealthy in her own right when she was married to the earl in 1918. Her career in society has been brilliant, and she had the reputation of being one of London's best dressed women.

Cohan to Appear in His New Play in Manhattan

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—George M. Cohan, who since September has been acting the title-part of "The Song-and-Dance Man," is to bring the comedy here on the 31st. He wrote the play for Lynne Overman, who achieved black type by his acting in "Just Married." Cohan's "The Rise of Rosie O'Reilly," said to be quite as good as his "Little Nellie Kelly," will be staged here on the 24th.

The Hippodrome, after numerous architectural changes, is now a Keith two-day house, with $1.50 as the high price night. The size of the auditorium makes it necessary that the bills shall be composed of "dumb" or "sight" acts.

Miss Fay Bainter's first appearance here under Belasco management will be tomorrow night in "The Other Rose," an adaptation from the French.

Walter Hampden has resumed his performances in "Cyrano de Bergerac," the run of which was interrupted when he sprained an ankle in a stage-jump.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for The Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. C. J. Munson, 357 W. Main-st., Kendallville, Ind., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do women prefer husbands to select their Christmas gifts or to give them a check, with which to buy as they please?

Where Asked.

639 North Rush street.

The Answer.

Mrs. J. Y. McFagan, 828 Edgecomb place, stenographer—Well, I like to have my husband select the presents, keep them until Christmas, and then open them up. But I never saw a man yet who could keep a secret until Christmas.

They are usually forgotten or worn out by Christmas.

Mrs. A. L. Henderson, 532 Oakdale avenue, stenographer—I'd rather he would select the gift himself. It represents more of the Christmas spirit. There is always a pleasure derived from the exchange of gifts in this manner. We get checks every Saturday night. We want something different on Christmas.

Miss Sule Henwood, 545 North Michigan avenue—I'm not married, but I'll answer that. They get a check or the money. Men don't usually know what women want. Some do, but most of them don't. Men don't know what to buy for each other, let alone for women.

Mrs. Jack Macabee, 159 East Ohio street, housewife—I prefer a check myself. Men usually don't know how to pick out a present for a woman. They are apt to pick out something that is pretty but not what you can't make it fit in anywhere.

Mrs. Walter Dashwood, 513 North Dearborn street, housewife—I'd rather have my husband get my present. It shows that he thinks something of me; a check doesn't do it in the same way. I'd rather he would give me a handkerchief than a ten dollar bill.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

Baking a Ham.

A hard and flavorless piece of meat is like lying in an abomination, whether you are an epicure, a moralist or just a person of plain common sense. In neither case can you enjoy it. The epicure finds his aesthetic sense fairly distorted by the sight of meat. The moralist thinks back to the expenditures of human and animal and vegetable life that went into the making of that ham. The common sense person knows work has been done and he is not fed.

Baked ham is a little more palatable to be sure, and a little less boiled, especially now that we do not bake hams in spiced wines or old.

GRAINS SLIP ON LIGHT PRESSURE IN LIMITED TRADE

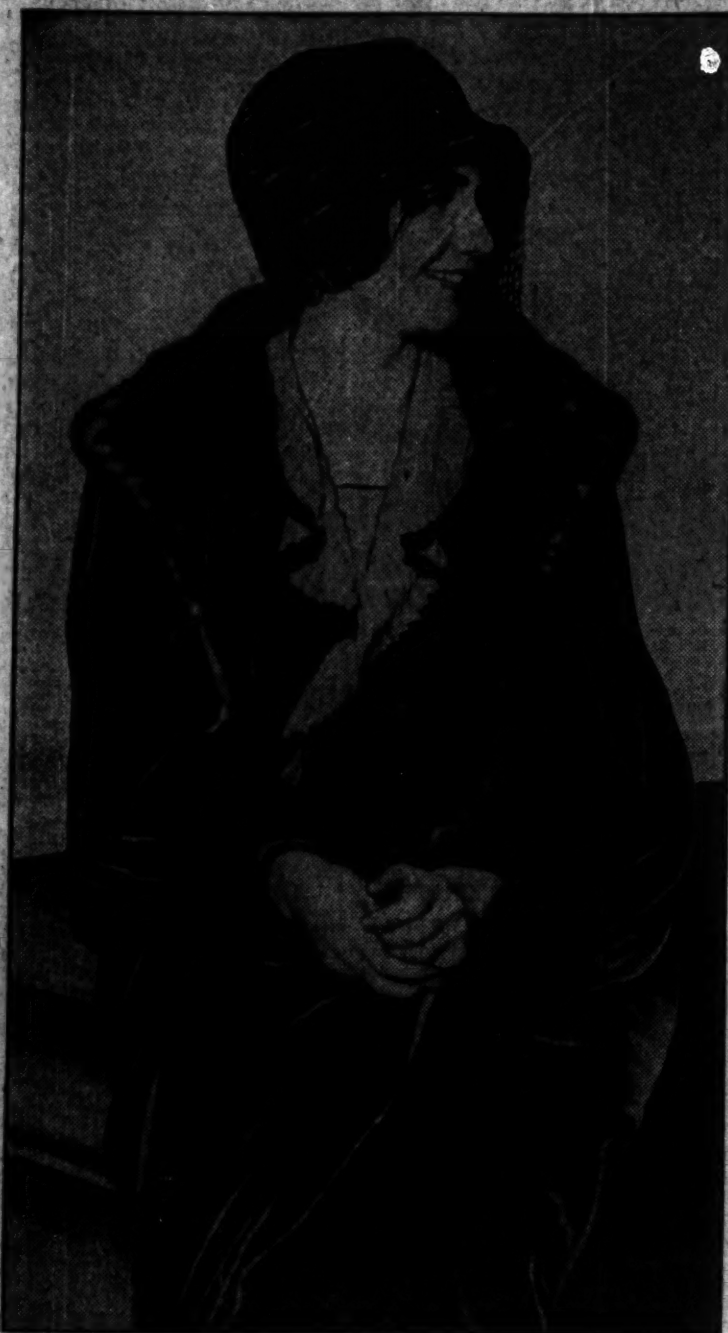

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.
Two features in the grain markets were the limited business and the ease with which values slid off after the bulge on comparatively light pressure. Fluctuations were narrow and news source and of little importance. Closing trades were at losses of 1/4 to 1/2 on wheat, while December corn gained 1/4 and May 1/4 and July 1/2. Oats finished 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, and rye 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower. Higher values for wheat with Liverpool up 1/2, had a strengthening influence on wheat values early and later a decrease of 1/4 to 1/2 in December's available supply had its influence for a time. The reaction, however, compared with the 1/2 to 1/4 drop of 1/2 to 1/4 in the last week of 1922, leaving the total stocks of 250,000,000 bushels against 190,000,000 in 1922. Weather in Argentina was better and Buenos Aires fell lower at the opening.

December Corn Shipped.
A feature in corn was the strength in December, which finished at 71 1/2 and the reports from Minneapolis of between 50,000 and 60,000 bushels for export. Export business here came out of the question, as bids are too low. There was renewed selling of May by Crows, Roy & Saunders and by the local traders around the low point, and covering by them later as well as fair commission house buying. Receipts of 371 cars were picked up readily at higher prices, although the cash market reacted at the last with supplying sales of only 15,000 bushels. Commission houses bought December and cashmaking houses bought May, making a stronger market at one time, but the late break in corn carried prices off, and the close was around the bottom. Cash premiums were stronger and there is a more friendly feeling to the market.

Provision Trade Limited.
Interest in provisions was limited, yet prices for lard futures were 7/16 to 1/4 higher at the finish. The cash trade is moderate and but prices lower, with receipts heavy. Packing in the west for the week was 1,000,000 head, against 1,000,000 last year, making $370,000 for the season since Nov. 1, against $311,000 last year.

SENATE TIDES
U. S. OVER XMAS
WITH ORATORYYuletide Eloquence
Supplants Ballots.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Before congress adjourns today for the merry Yuletide season almost every statesman disposed of the political situation for the time being, either in debate on the floor or in interviews in the lobbies.

Senator Hallett (Dem., Ind.) was eagerly beset by the reporters to give his opinion of Henry Ford's endorsement of President Coolidge. The senator is himself a potential dark horse candidate for the Democratic nomination, and Mr. Ford's utterance yesterday removed the Detroit multimillionaire from that group, for, though Mr. Ford has not said he would not be a candidate if some other man than Mr. Coolidge should be nominated by the Republicans, it is assumed the Democratic convention would never consider naming one who so heartily approves of the present Republican administration as does Mr. Ford.

Hallett's Opposes of Ford. In with a potential rival dark horse out of the way, Senator Hallett was asked his opinion, and he replied: "The Democratic party will be stronger in the next national campaign with Mr. Ford out for President Coolidge than it would be with Mr. Ford in the country as a defeated candidate for the presidential nomination by the Democratic national convention."

Senator Harrison (Dem., Miss.), in a burst of Yuletide oratory, glorified the Democratic party and accused the Republicans of doing nothing to succeed a suffering country. He blamed the Republicans particularly for failing to restrict immigration more effectively, to lease the Muscle Shoals plant to Henry Ford, and to give the farmers cheap fertilizer.

Harrison Favors a Swap. "It may be after the revelations of yesterday we can get some action," said Senator Harrison. "We have accomplished something; we have now the support of Henry Ford," interjected Senator Brookhart (Rep., Ia.).

"If that will give us the Muscle Shoals proposition and allow that to be agreed to, we can trade with you," Mr. Harrison observed.

Senator McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) denounced the opposition of the Coolidge administration to the soldier bonus, and said the boys back from the trenches would have to rely on the Democrats to procure justice for them.

Hallett, the Deadbeat. Senator Harrison ridiculed the inability of the Republicans to complete the organization of the senate by electing a chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

"The President's message advocated reduction of railroad rates," said Mr. Harrison. "yet the senate obstructs the passage of a chairman of the interstate commerce committee and takes holiday after holiday, and you Republicans cannot get together among yourselves."

"I call to see where senators on your side have agreed," interrupted Senator Brookhart, referring to the vote of Senator Hallett (Dem., Miss.) for Senator Cummins (Rep., Ia.), which prevented the election of Senator Smith (Dem., N. C.) as chairman of the interstate commerce committee. "A Democratic senator kept us from being efficient and effective."

"United All but One." "With but one exception we agree," observed Mr. Harrison. "and we are sorry we are not unanimous as we were on some six or eight ballots."

Senator Harrison complained that the Republicans had done nothing to limit the Mellon tax reduction bill and, coming to foreign affairs, said:

"The President spoke courageously in favor of entering the world court. I think I saw two or three senators on the other side almost faint when he said it. Now Mr. Lodge does not agree with his fellow citizen from Massachusetts on that proposal. He would consent a world court of his own appointment, free from any reservations that he might have to draw. So what is the country to do? How are they to know what the administration stands for as to domestic or foreign affairs?"
